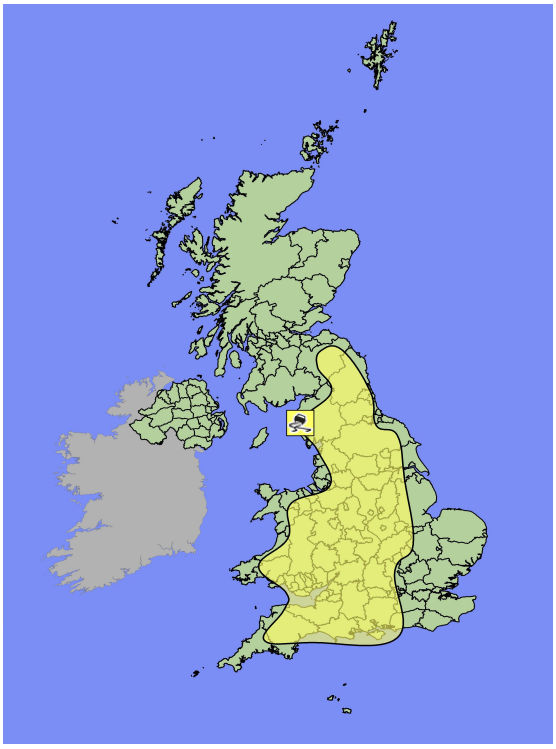
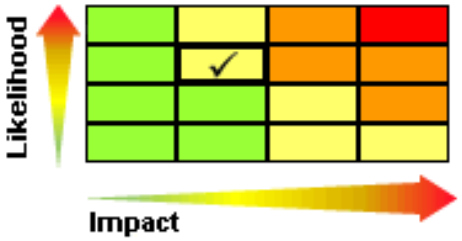
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
The areas at greater risk of ice are highlighted in the Yellow Warning area. However, some icy patches cannot be ruled out almost anywhere across the UK away from coasts.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 20:00 on Wed, 28th Nov 2012 until 11:00 on Thu, 29th Nov 2012

Temperatures are expected to fall below freezing overnight across many parts of England and Wales along with southeast Scotland. Due to the recent wet weather there is an increased risk of icy patches, even on roads that have been treated with salt, where water run off/seepage may wash off any earlier salt treatment.

Therefore the public should be aware of the risk of ice on roads and pavements.
